"FORGIVE AND FORGET"

Music and lyric by

Bob Kessler

Forgive and forget,
That's your old refrain
Forgive you for others kissed,
For meetings missed,
For tears, for pain....

Forgive and forget,
You're asking once more
But Darling, you've had your chance,
We've danced this dance
Too many times before

You'll do what you please
You'll change with the breeze
At first blowing warm, but then
Blowing cold once again

You're good at the game
Too good to be true
Forgive and forget, you cry
So here's what I am asking you to do
Forgive me if I forget
I've ever loved you.
